

COPIS 2023 Annual Meeting

October 19th-21st

Boise, ID

Centering Humanity and Looking Forward: Perspective Taking for More Equitable Supervision

Call for Proposals

While all topics related to supervision and instructional leadership are welcome, we encourage proposals that are aligned to one or more of our themes:

1. Papers that address supervision/leadership with explicit aims for equity and justice in education;
2. Papers that reveal current investigations (both completed and in-process) of supervision practices that center humanity and support educators to endure and thrive in challenging contexts;
3. Papers exploring an area of supervision that is emerging, future-oriented, innovative and/or exploratory.

Please email proposals to Jenn Snow (jennifersnow@boisestate.edu) by July 15, 2023.

Your proposal should include the following:

I. Contact Information:

Name

Institution

Street address

Phone number

Email address

II. The title of your proposed presentation

III. A 50 word abstract of your proposed presentation

IV. A 250 word summary of your proposed presentation

V. Your first and second choice of the type of session in which you would like to present (place a “1” in front of your first choice and a “2” in front of your second choice)

_____ Round Table

_____ Paper Presentation

_____ Alternative Format (please include explanation of proposed format in your proposal)

Acceptance notification via email by August 1, 2023

Conference registration information forthcoming at copis.org